India digging its grave by opposing CPEC

ISLAMABAD

The Pakistan Economy Watch (PEW) on Friday said India is digging its grave by opposing the multi-billion dollar project CPEC which has become a reality. Conflicting this project amounts to committing suicide, therefore, India should become part of it or become unconcerned towards it, it said. The conspiracies by Modi administration cannot dent Pak-China friendship and increased economic cooperation, said Dr. Murtaza Mughal, President PEW. Damaging a sixty billion dollar project by allocating sixty million dollars for terrorist activities is a dream which will never come true, he added. Dr Murtaza Mughal said that India is not only dancing on the tune of some global powers but it is also against increased Chinese presence in Pakistan which will deprive her of opportunity to attack our country. Chinese presence in Gwadar will secure our seas while the CPEC route will foil her unholy designs in Gilgit-Baltistan helping Pakistan to allocate status of a province to that important region.

The project will bring all the countries in the region closer and help them develop rapidly while India blinded by the enmity of Pakistan will be left alone, he observed.

He noted that China has finalised a deal with Iran which has wasted billions of dollars on Indian investment and now India is trying to settle the score with China for its humiliating defeat in Ladakh on Pakistani soil.

We must realise that the success of CPEC is linked to the prosperity of Balochistan therefore no stone should be left unturned to bring this province in the national mainstream, he demanded.
